Bicycle accident fatal to Wilmington boy

A 16-year-old youth died on Tuesday after being hit by a car on Sunday evening.

Steven R. Manuel was riding his bicycle on Main Street near the Town Park. His half-brother, Frank Powers, was on the other side of the road, and Steven attempted to cross the road to join Frank.

He was struck by a southbound car, a 1967 Buick driven by Theodore Rodes, age 17, of Woburn. Thrown in the air by the initial impact, Steven collided with the car a second time when he landed. The accident occurred at about 6:30 p.m.

He suffered severe head injuries, and multiple fractures. Both the Wilmington Fire Department Ambulance and rescue truck responded, and he was taken to the Winchester Hospital. He was then transferred to the New England Medical Center in Boston, where he died Tuesday evening.

The accident is under investigation by Officers David McCue and Robert Spencer. Spencer said that the car left a 45-foot skid. Spencer said that motor vehicle homicide charges and other traffic citations were being issued in the case.

Steven, a deaf-mute, frequented the Town Park, where he was an unofficial bat boy for the softball teams playing there. He was a favorite of several of the players.

He was the son of Norma (Harris) and Frank C. Powers of 26 Butters Row, Wilmington, and Joseph S.

Manuel of Stoneham. He is survived by his parents, and several brothers and sisters: Mrs. Debra Okolo of Kingston, N.H., Michael, Hope, and Julie Manuel of Salem, Mass., Catherine Manuel, Annie Marie, Christina and Frank C. Powers, Jr., all of Wilmington.

Funeral services will be held at the Wilmington United Methodist Church at a time to be announced. Arrangements are in charge of the W.S. Cavanaugh & Son Funeral Home, 374 Main Street. The family has requested that in lieu of flowers, donations be sent to the Learning Center for the Deaf, 848 Central St., Framingham.

The broken windshield and the twisted bicycle tell the story. Struck by a car on Sunday night, bicyclist Steven Manuel died on Tuesday.

Electric rebate coming

The Reading Municipal Light Board has two encouraging announcements. First, a lowering of the Light Department's electric rates on July 1, 1978, and secondly, a credit on customer's July and August bills.

The rate reduction and refund is the result of a settlement between Reading and Boston Edison Co. covering the period December 16, 1974 to date. The wholesale rate charge dispute from January 1, 1973 to December 16, 1974 (S-2) is not yet resolved, but will be shortly and will be the subject of a future refund.

Reading's electric rates will be reduced an average of five per cent, exclusive of fuel charges, beginning with the July billings.

The credit on the July and August billings will amount to a proportion of the surcharge paid by each customer during the period covered by the settlement. Approximately $654,000. will be disbursed to customers of the settlement period. This refund will be equal in dollars to about two weeks of usage. Variances will be noticed because of customer classifications. Refund checks will be issued later in the fall to former customers and those customers who have moved within the system during this period.

The refund to the Reading Light actually would have been higher had not the FERC (Federal Energy Regulatory Commission) ordered it to pay for a retroactive wholesale rate period in early 1976.

The Recreation Department's Summer Girls Gymnastics Program has had a favorable response once again.

The pre-school class and grades one through three class are filled with a waiting list while a new pre-school and grades one through three class will be added.

Beans & Band

Wilmington's Fourth of July celebration will take the form of a bean supper and band concert on the Common. Sponsored by the Wilmington Kiwanis Club, the activities begin Tuesday at 5 p.m. Beans, franks and ice cream will be served through 6:30 p.m. The concert, presented by the Woburn City Band, will begin about 7 p.m.

Directed by Jon A. Asgeirsson, a Stoneham attorney, the Woburn City Band has been entertaining in the area for 43 years. The program will range from Joplin's "The Entertainer" to classic overtures. The band includes a Dixie-Land group and many solo and trio performers.

Plans ready for new high school track

by Elaine DePasquale
If all things go as planned, Wilmington High School will sport a brand-new, six-lane quarter-mile running track when school opens in the fall.

Specifications have recently been completed for the track which was approved at the March 1978 Town Meeting and for which $80,000 was appropriated.

According to Town Engineer Robert Higgins, timing is a crucial factor. Since funds do not become available until July 1, the beginning of the fiscal year, work cannot begin until then. September 6, 1978 has been designated for completion of the track, leaving only two months for its construction.

Unless the track is completed or very nearly completed by this date, said Higgins, the work would be suspended until the following summer so it would not interfere with fall sports at the school.

Higgins admitted, that "any number of things" could delay construction until next summer, but, he said, "We hope we are going to be lucky on this one."

The present track, a 14-foot cinder-surfaced strip around the perimeter of the football field, was condemned as hazardous and ordered closed in April 1977 by Superintendent of Schools Walter Pierce. Rocks and bricks had been discovered projecting through the track surface and one former runner had ruined a pair of track shoes there when a spike was pulled from them.

Despite the substandard practice facility, the track team has won two state championships in recent years.

The proposed new track, although utilizing the same location, will be 26 feet wide, considerably wider than the old version. It will have a top layer, one inch thick of Rub-Kor or a similar material. According to Higgins, this is a fairly sophisticated type of surface in which rubber is mixed with the hot top to provide the runner with a spring to his step.

Tewksbury has had a track with a Rub-Kor type surface for the past two years and officials there report they are very happy with it. Billerica and North Reading, also have tracks with Rub-Kor type surfaces.

Higgins, who called the rubberized surface the "frosting on the cake" said the specifications also called for two inches of bituminous concrete on a gravel base.

The plans also call for a retaining wall, 30 feet long and eight feet tall at its highest point, to be constructed at the extreme end of the proposed track where the grade drops off sharply. This will be situated on a part of the 17,000 square foot parcel of land donated to the town by Alan E. Fenton of Adams Street.

Higgins, who designed the specifications, said work on the project "went very well." One individual, Peter Lieberman, was assigned to work on the project full-time, he said, while the rest of the staff assisted when not working on several other Engineering Department projects.

Invitations to bid were advertised beginning June 21. To date, however, only one bidder has inquired at the town hall regarding copies of the specifications.

Coaches to reapply for lost jobs

At a meeting last week, Wilmington coaches were urged by the Teachers' Association to re-apply for their jobs despite their anger over a recently adopted annual re-posting policy.

Steve O'Brien, a faculty representative who works on the bargaining team, said that the reasoning behind the Teachers' Association's position was two-fold.

We asked the coaches to re-apply, he said, to protect their rights as coaches and because we do not want to deprive the kids in town, he said.

The decision to require that all coaching positions be reposted annually was handed down at the June 14 School Committee meeting. Coaches were apprised of the new policy on June 15 and given eight days in which to re-apply for their jobs. In the past only vacant positions were posted each year.

The new ruling has caused considerable controversy among school department personnel, and a formal grievance has been filed in protest by the Wilmington Teachers' Association.

O'Brien said that the meeting of the coaches was called so that the Association could explain why it had filed a grievance. According to Carl Olsson, president of the Teachers' Association, annual re-posting violates a past practice clause in the teachers' contract and is an item that should have been introduced into collective bargaining sessions last fall.

O'Brien said that the Teachers' Association hoped that bargaining could be re-opened and a trade-off could be negotiated.

He added that coaches had been asked to attend the June 28 meeting of the School Committee "to ask questions." "We are not talking confrontation," he said, "we are talking information."

"Coaches are very upset and worried," O'Brien said about their own careers and about the programs for the fall. He explained that much of the planning and organization for fall sports must get underway now. "This is our biggest concern," he said.

Athletic Director Lawrence Cushing told the Town Crier that as of Monday morning, following a Friday, June 23, deadline, many of the coaches had re-applied. He said, however, that he couldn't be sure it was 100 per cent.

According to Cushing, at least a few days beyond deadline is normally allowed for applications that may have been delayed in the mail.

Cushing said that even though he was retiring on July 1, he was "really concerned." "I still have lots of children playing," he said.

New stores at Plaza

Two new businesses will open soon at Wilmington Shopping Plaza, according to Demoulas Vice President and Operations Manager William Marsden.

By mid-July, Polka Dot Junction, specialists in ladies ready-to-wear, will occupy a portion of the store formerly leased by the Robert Hall Co. The rest of the facility will house a newly-expanded Shamrock Liquors.

Also slated to open sometime in July is a branch of the Lowell Five Cents Savings Bank. The bank will occupy the store which was formerly Elliotts Home Furnishings and Carpet Centers.

Marsden said that negotiations were currently underway regarding the lease of the former W.T. Grant Store, but that "nothing has been consummated yet."

"We are working very hard on this," he said, adding that there would definitely be something located there in the future.

Holzmeister leaving

Wilmington Assistant Town Manager Peter Holzmeister has submitted his resignation to be effective July 21.

Holzmeister has served as assistant town manager for nearly four years, having been hired in September, 1974.

He is leaving to become the town manager of Grove City, Pa., where he will not have to contend with either committees or a town meeting. The city is run by a town manager and the council.

"He's done a fine job for the town of Wilmington," said Town Manager Sterling Morris. Holzmeister's work included collective bargaining, federal funding and grantsmanship, personnel management and studies, and budget preparation, including the preparation of the town's zero-based budget.

Bob Hatem candidate for Congress

Robert F. Hatem, vice president for development of Merrimack College has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for election to Congress, 5th Middlesex District. home on Andover Street, in Lowell.

The people of the Fifth Congressional District, Hatem has said, must again face the challenge of finding a qualified Congressman, a person who can represent the ordinary people and the private sector. The voters in the democratic primary must recognize that the nation is at a new crossroads. The economy is perilous. There is a money crisis. Families are beginning to see their budget dollars sink. Businesses are operating on marginal profits, and the working man is sick of politicians who dream up projects that shrink their paychecks.

Hatem feels that the people are demanding more accountability for dollars spent by the Federal Government. Government caused inflation must be exposed and opposed. It is important that the people of the fifth district stand together, in all walks of life.

John Markey's generation is challenging Congress to come clean.

Since '74, there's been a new breed in Congress that won't stand still for the backroom politics of the past.

They've thrown out the old seniority system, thrown open the doors on committee hearings, and put a tough new ethics code within reach.

John Markey wants to join them. And he won't exactly be a freshman when it comes to fighting corrupt practices.

As Assistant Middlesex County District Attorney, John Markey prosecuted white collar criminals from Concord to Lowell. Everybody from a Middlesex politician who abused a payroll to a doctor peddling drugs and a lawyer conspiring to rob banks.

In fact, his successes won him a job as an Assistant United States Attorney.

But more important than the successful prosecutions was the driving force behind them: John Markey's belief that people who serve the public owe us no less than absolute honesty. And he won't back down from that same high standard in Congress.

"I'm running because I want to fight for the principles I believe in," he's said: "Better health care, fairer taxes, more jobs. I'm tired of watching working people suffer while politicians make their back room deals."

"The only way to restore public confidence," he suggested, "is through the election of officials committed to the highest standards of public service."

Once before a young man who fought corruption in Middlesex County ran for Congress, where he worked to restore the public's trust. His name was Paul Tsongas.

We could use another Congressman like him. So could Congress.

John Markey. Democrat.

Before John Markey can help change Congress, he needs your help.

If you want a Congressman who'll fight for change, John Markey could use your help. Please fill out this volunteer card, cut it out, and drop it in the mail to: John Markey for Congress, 151 Essex Street, Lawrence, MA 01840.

Developer will re-submit Ainsworth Road proposal

A Somerville developer proposing to build a roadway on the Ainsworth Road right-of-way accepted the advice of the Wilmington Planning Board on Tuesday night, and withdrew his proposal. He will resubmit it for another hearing.

Lawrence Burns is hoping to build a 200 unit motel on a site located between Route 93, Route 125, Andover Street and Ainsworth Road. He is proposing that the access to the motel be through Ainsworth Road, which is privately owned. Robert Corey owns both Ainsworth Road and the land which Burns hopes to develop.

Among the persons present at the hearing were members of the Wilmington Conservation Commission, several abutters to the property, and A. Daniel Gillis, a former selectman and planning board member, and past president of the Massachusetts Federation of Planning Boards.

Conservation Commission Chairman Chester Bruce pointed out that there was a cease and desist order covering the property into which Burns was proposing to extend the roadway. Burns maintained that the cease and desist order did not cover the specific parcel of land on which he is proposing to build the road.

Acting Planning Board Chairman John DeRoy told Burns that because of the cease and desist order and other problems, the Planning Board would reject his subdivision proposal. He recommended that it be withdrawn and resubmitted when the problems are attended to.

He said that the Planning Board was bound under state law to act on the application before them on or before July 11. With the information at hand, they would have no choice but to reject the proposal, DeRoy said.

The tract of land proposed for the development comprises about 50 acres, but the Town of Wilmington has claimed title to a parcel of about seven acres in the middle of the larger tract. That question is now in land court for clarification of the title.

Another problem in the proposal is the history of Ainsworth Road. At one time the Town of Wilmington had voted to take the road as a public way, but the taking was never recorded in the Registry of Deeds, and ownership reverted to the previous owner, Robert Evans. Evans later sold the road to Corey.

At the time the road was taken by the town, a water main was installed, with betterments assessed to the abutters. One of these Henry Jensen, bore the largest share of the betterments, some $5800. Jensen, has since died, but his widow was represented by an attorney at the hearing.

Another interested party at the hearing was Mrs. Earl Eacker of Boston, who attended with her husband. She owns an industrial building at the end of Ainsworth Road. It was built about 15 years ago and was initially occupied by a firm which she owns, Insultab. That firm subsequently moved to Woburn, and a succession of tenants has since occupied the building.

Mrs. Eacker has had problems in maintaining access to the building. At one time Corey attempted to block the road to traffic, asserting his ownership of the road. At considerable expense, Mrs. Eacker negotiated an agreement of access to the building.

At the hearing on Tuesday, she said that the right of access had then been conveyed to the town, which further complicates the issue.

Burns maintained that he can solve the problems with the street, and that it can be built this year. He asked if he could file his re-submission of the application at the same meeting.

Acting Chairman John DeRoy told Burns to first submit his withdrawal in writing, and then submit his application for a new hearing.

Burns asked that if any other problems existed with the land, that he be told of them so that he will find no new surprises when he comes in for the next hearing.

Dear Larz:

Finally the people of South Wilmington have come to some realization that there is a traffic problem and that the MDPW is willing to reconsider. The P.B. is happy to see that their original intention may be supported by others and put into effect.

The Planning Board also expresses their appreciation to the lone supporter who wrote a previous letter to the editor.

Dear Larz:

Re: Coach Fred Bellissimo

There are times when it's just plain good to remember. With the announced retirement of Coach Fred Bellissimo, it brings me back to the 50's, when the Crier was young and Wilmington's growth was slow and binding. In those days, everyone knew everyone else, and the population as best I can remember was about 4,000.

Along about 1955 and 1956, Wilmington High School, of which I was a product, had the worst records for those football seasons. Needless to say, if you came from Wilmington, you knew it was Mudville and if you did venture from town on occasion, it was not only risky at best, in addition one would be subject to much criticism.

My reason for writing is simple. Coach Fred Bellissimo, came to our community for the 1956 football season, which I may add, Wilmington promptly went onto the field and lost every game.

Although every outing ended in defeat, the coach never allowed that particular team to reveal in self pity. Those survivors of the 56 football depression, saw Wilmington begin to come alive in 1957.

From 1957, it was a lovely experience, as a spectator, to watch Wilmington due to its fine athletes, and superb coaching, become a powerhouse in its own right and once again a credit to the community! How sweet it is!

ting immediately to arrange future classes.

Coach Bellissimo has retired from coaching, he was and is today an important influence on the lives of all of his athletes.

He demonstrated to a completely unsuccessful team that one can lose, and still walk away with pride, if that person had given his maximum. I'm certain he instilled in all of his teams the spirit of working hard and giving their all.

For 22 years of leadership, guidance and direction, a Wilmington High alumnus would like to throw out a strong and sincere - Thanks!

William D. Rosa, CLU
Co-Capt. 1956, WHS

Dear Larz:

Is Walter Pierce (Superintendent of Schools) trying to tell the citizens of Wilmington something about our school system?

What are we to think when our Superintendent of Schools sends his daughter to Nazareth Academy? (Town Crier, May 31, page 3)

When the man responsible for our children's education doesn't think Wilmington schools are good enough for his own children, I think it's time we got a new Superintendent!

Sincerely,
Patricia Winters Meuse

Marijuana conviction

Robert M. Farnkoff was found guilty in Woburn Court Friday of possession of marijuana and driving under its influence.

The 18-year-old Wilmington man was arrested earlier this month by Wilmington police officers David McCue and Robert Spencer.

Squealing tires and an erratic driving pattern alerted the police officers, who were on a routine patrol near Wiser Street, to the possibility of a highway violation. They followed the vehicle, stopping it on Boutwell Street.

According to the police, they there detected a strong odor of marijuana coming from the car and requested the operator, Farnkoff, to get out. As he did so, he placed a package beneath the car seat, they said.

A search of the car by Officer Spencer produced a glassine bag containing what was believed to be marijuana and a film case containing several burned cigarettes.

In court Friday, Farnkoff pleaded guilty to the charges against him. His case was continued to June 30 for disposition.
